merger, acquisition and takeover

Leonardo Venture GmbH & Co. KGaA increased its shareholding in its portfolio company ISIS sentronics GmbH. By doing so, Leonardo Venture now holds 46 percent of the Mannheim-based company. In addition, a silent participation of EUR 750,000 has also been agreed. This amount will be paid out in instalments on reaching certain milestones.

Up to now, Leonardo Venture held 37 percent of ISIS sentronics. "With the increase of our share to 46 percent, we will profit from the very promising development of ISIS sentronics to a larger extent", explains Prof. Dr. Udo Wupperfeld, Managing Director of Leonardo Venture Capital GmbH. The company receives increasing enquiries and incoming orders und therefore will invest the new funds amongst others in building up its staff to satisfy the growing demand for its products.

About ISIS sentronics

ISIS sentronics operates in the area of industrial measuring and testing systems. The company manufactures optical sensor systems that are used above all in the wafer/electronics, films/coating and automotive/machine parts fields. The sensors and scanners are used during the production process and permit 100% quality control of the products.
