Hannover/Germany, 02/02/2012. (euro adhoc) - Hoeft & Wessel AG has awarded prizes to several partners for successful co-operation in marketing mobile Skeye brand terminals. At the Hoeft & Wessel Solution Days in Munich, the company Warok GmbH was awarded the prize for "Value added Distributor of the Year 2011". In the course of a five-year co-operative venture, the company based in Villingen-Schwenningen in the southwest of Baden-Württemberg has developed into the most successful distributor for Skeye products and had already received a prize award as "Distributor of the Year" in the year 2010.

The "Partner of the Year 2011" award went to the Dutch company Prometheus Informatics BV, headquartered in Veenendaal. Prometheus Informatics has been using the mobile terminals from Hoeft & Wessel with its software for special applications in the field of waste management and transport logistics since as early as 2001 and has been increasingly successful throughout Europe.

The prize award for "Best Specialised Solution 2011" went to the company Nufatron AG, based in Güttingen (Switzerland). The company is specialised in logistics information systems and equipped the Swiss forwarding agency Galliker with an individually customised solution in 2011. This solution, based on a specially developed Bluetooth hardware system on the mobile devices from Hoeft & Wessel, combines the functions of temperature logging, toll recording, GPS, vehicle data capture (FMS) and a digital tachograph.

At the major company event, attended by more than 120 corporate representatives of customers and partners, information was provided on the latest developments from Hoeft & Wessel.
