

Basel-Mulhouse Airport, February 15, 2024

Media release

As of August 2024, a new flight connection to Dubai with flydubai

Starting August 2, 2024, the airline flydubai will launch scheduled flights between Basel-Mulhouse Airport and its hub located in Dubai. Initially, the flight connection will be operated four times a week (Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays around midday). Flights can be booked as of now via flydubai's website.

With direct flights to Dubai, the Arabian Peninsula can be reached even more easily, which meets the growing demand for travel to this region.

The Arabian airline flydubai, based in Dubai (United Arab Emirates) and founded in 2008, offers an extensive route network via its hub with numerous connecting flights to Central and South Asia, North Africa as well as the Middle East. This makes it easy to reach attractive vacation destinations such as Krabi and Pattaya in Thailand or Penang and Langkawi in Malaysia.

The EuroAirport-Dubai route will be operated with a latest-generation aircraft, a Boeing 737 Max 8. In addition to 156 economy class passenger seats, flydubai offers 10 business class seats. Business class offers additional comfort provided by large seats that allow passengers to completely lay down.

The new direct connection is offered in the form of codeshare flights with Emirates, and therefore enables passengers to take connecting flights to the global route network of the Emirate of Dubai's state airline.
