The successful nooba restaurant concept now in Andermatt - Another milestone in the development of Andermatt Reuss

With nooba, the successful pan Asian cuisine concept from Two Spice AG in Zurich is coming to Andermatt Reuss from December 2024. On Furkagasse - the new catering and retail zone in Andermatt - the popular and successful restaurant concept with locations in Zurich, Winterthur and Laax is opening another nooba restaurant with 94 seats.

Furkagasse will open in December 2024 in the new village district of Andermatt Reuss with hotels and apartment buildings, expanding the existing range of restaurants (Radisson Blu Reussen, Biselli and La Bonne Cave) and shops (Imholz Sport, Mammut, Victorinox, Drogerie Andermatt) with further attractive shopping, service, catering and leisure facilities. The opening of an Igniv restaurant by Andreas Caminada in Haus Maya in collaboration with the well-known designer Patricia Urquiola has already been communicated. Andermatt Swiss Watches will also open an exclusive boutique for timepieces, jewellery and writing instruments.

With nooba in Haus Yara, the variety of offers and mix of tenants becomes even more attractive with a restaurant designed as a noodle bar and a popular meeting place for fans of pan Asian cuisine. Most of the dishes are based on various types of noodles, which are enriched with fresh vegetables, fish and meat and flavoured with Asian spices. The menu features dishes from all the major Asian cuisines, from Thailand to Vietnam and Japan.

nooba's character is reflected in the interior design of the restaurant. The clear lines give the space a natural aesthetic. The design skilfully combines modern elegance with traditional Asian elements such as wooden tables, creating an inviting atmosphere for guests of all tastes.

The catering and lifestyle company Two Spice AG was founded in 1990 by Marc Saxer and Daniel Kehl. The entire group comprises 29 catering establishments and serves over 4 million guests every year.
