TeamWox belongs to the class of software that allows you to organize the efficient teamwork within a company. Its revolutionary innovations are simplicity and speed of installation. TeamWox (<http://www.teamwox.com/en>) is different to other products; it is easily installed and doesn't have a lengthy configuration time. Moreover, there is no need to use expensive system integrators.

"Easy" and "quick" were two key words used when the TeamWox product was designed. On the basis of this, MetaQuotes Software Corp. has created an excellent and effective tool for managing business processes.

Never before have the systems of enterprise management been so accessible and so clear: many problems that seemed to be part of any automation will disappear. TeamWox makes difficulties in installation, lengthy implementation and costly operations things of the past.

The benefits to the business of TeamWox are obvious. The necessity of a lengthy installation and longer implementation disappear, as this powerful tool for managing the company is quickly and easily installed without any extra expense. In this regard, TeamWox works similarly to the familiar Microsoft Office package - you install it and you can start working with it immediately. According to the developers, TeamWox will become a de-facto standard in the sphere of business automation processes for small and medium-sized business.

Public availability of the software is only the first step of MetaQuotes Software Corp.'s project. The company plans to launch a fundamentally new product - an enterprise management system that doesn't need to be implemented. The trial software was released with a view to demonstrate the advantages of TeamWox.
